

A Tribute To Our Seniors

God has blessed us in many ways and one of the most meaningful blessings He has given is the gift of “Senior Citizens.” They teach us the timeless lessons of courage, sacrifice, love and giving: giving of self and giving to God. By sharing their wisdom and experiences with us, they serve as role models for future generations to come. They continuously live on in the character, morals and values that they instill in each of us.

Today, and extending into this month, we pay tribute to our Senior Citizens here at Windermere United and in our community. We take this time to recognize the continual sacrifices and contributions they have made with their lives. They have served as open books to the young men and fathers, young women and mothers, and to their own children. Their standard of living has shown each of us how to move when we don't feel like moving, how to keep trying in the time of physical, spiritual or emotional adversities, how to care for others in need and to take pride in the Church, in our homes and in our communities.

Examples they have shared with us is the power of faithfulness, commitment, dedication, accountability and prayer. Their wisdom, service and leadership inspire many of us and motivate us to be better today than we were yesterday.

By treating our honorees with dignity and respect, we honor their legacy but more so we honor God. By treating one another the way Christ treats us, we honor their lives and we honor God; because it was God who has brought our honorees this far. We to pay tribute to our gifts from God.
